

Lesson Plans from the North Carolina Museum of History

A Cherokee Myth: The Origin of Strawberries

Lesson plan for grade four

(<http://www.ncmuseumofhistory.org/workshops/AI/MythLesson.htm>)

Dear Mom and Dad . . .

Lesson plan for eighth-grade social studies and language arts; eleventh-grade United States history (from the kit Everybody's War: North Carolina and World War II)

(http://ncmuseumofhistory.org/workshops/WWII_old/dear_mom.htm)

The Math of Removal

Lesson plan combining history (the story of Tsali and the Trail of Tears) and math (from the Educator Notebook North Carolina Legends)

(http://ncmuseumofhistory.org/workshops/legends/TTmath_hndout.html)

Pottery Making: The Coil Method

Lesson plan for grades four through six

(<http://www.ncmuseumofhistory.org/workshops/AI/PotteryLessonPlan.htm>)

Use It Up, Wear It Out, Make It Do, or Do Without!

Lesson plan for eighth-grade North Carolina history; eleventh-grade United States history (from the kit Everybody's War: North Carolina and World War II)

(http://ncmuseumofhistory.org/workshops/WWII_old/rationing_lesson.htm)

Whatever Happened to Virginia Dare?

Lesson plan suitable for language arts and social studies classes.(from the Educator Notebook North Carolina Legends)

(http://ncmuseumofhistory.org/workshops/legends/LClesson_hndout.html).